B. Thanksgiving (1:4-9)

II. Division Over Leaders (1:10 – 4:21)

A. Appeal to end leader-centered factions (1:10-17)

B. God, not human wisdom, is the source of salvation life (so only he is worthy of allegiance) (1:18-31)

2. The gospel's contradiction of worldly wisdom confirmed by fact the church consists mainly of "nobodies" (1:26-31)

C. Example of Paul's preaching (2:1 – 3:4)

1. He kept the focus on the message of Christ crucified (2:1-5)

2. The gospel does not comport with worldly wisdom, but it is true wisdom for those mature enough to grasp its implications for living (2:6-16)

3. Corinthians were (and still are) too worldly (as shown by their division) to appreciate Paul's message as meaty (3:1-4)

D. Leaders (like Paul and Apollos) are fellow workers in building God's church not competitors (3:5-9)

G. God's stewards are answerable to God, so until the Lord's return boasting in any of them is at best premature (4:1-5)

H. Command not to supplement the gospel with worldly wisdom and additional reasons not to factionalize over leaders (4:6-13)

1. They are not to supplement the gospel with a spirituality based in worldly wisdom, as that leads to factionalizing over leaders (4:6)

2. The qualities in which they boast (or find attractive in leaders) were a gift from God not a personal achievement (4:7)

3. Their gravitating to leaders on the bases of social status and prestige in the present age, which is the root of their division, is inconsistent with the fact our exaltation as Christians is still future (4:8-13)

I. Admonishment and appeal to the congregation and a comment specifically to those opposing him (4:14-21)
